DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 37-38, 40-41, 43-56, 58-59, 61-62, 64-72 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Applicant argues that a dielectric layer formed of materials excluding S or F, in combination with the specific oxides, are not disclosed. The new art applied address this limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 37, 58 and 72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5,334,433.

The reference discloses a recording medium having a dielectric adjacent the recording layer where the dielectric layer is formed of an oxide including the claimed elements (LaSiON). See '433, col. 3. The layers are formed by sputtering in argon gas. See Examples.

Claims 37-38, 40-41, 43-56, 58-59, 61-62, 64-72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(c) as being anticipated by US 2005/001695.

The reference discloses a phase change recording medium having a dielectric adjacent the recording layer where the dielectric layer is formed of an oxide including the claimed elements (La<sub>2</sub>O<sub>3</sub>, SiO<sub>2</sub>, Cr<sub>2</sub>O<sub>3</sub>, HfO<sub>2</sub>, ZrO). The layer may further comprise MgO, SiC, SiN, etc.. See Example 3 and Tables. The medium may further comprise interface layer of the claimed materials. See Example 8. The recording material is the same as claimed. See all Examples. The layers are formed by sputtering in Ar. See all Examples. The medium may be double sided. See Example 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 37-38, 40-41, 43-56, 58-59, 61-62, 64-72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,416,837 in view of US 5,334,433.

The '837 reference discloses a phase change recording medium (can be double-sided) which comprises dielectric layers which may be formed of oxides. The medium further comprises an interface layer and is formed by sputtering in Ar. See Examples. The oxides can be mixed with sulfides. It is recognized that the present claims specify that the dielectric layer does not comprise sulfur. However, the '433 reference shows that a dielectric layer, formed of the claimed materials which does not include sulfur, is known. While the medium is not a phase-change medium, the dielectric layer is formed adjacent the recording layer to provide thermal protective properties, i.e.

functions the same as the dielectric layer claimed. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the dielectric material of the '433 reference for that in the '837 medium. The substitution of one known dielectric substance for another would yield predictable results.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 37-38, 40-41, 43-56, 58-59, 61-62, 64-72 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-73 of copending Application No. 10/895,870. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they cover the same medium where the dielectric material may be of the same materials, i.e. mixture of oxides of Zr and La.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
